SUMMER CAMP

BUILDING DYNAMIC SOCIAL SKILLS TO SUPPORT JOYFUL LEARNING

Child Success Center's Melissa Idelson and her team of skilled therapists have collaborated with Patty Ramsey, LMFT to develop a play-based, summer enrichment camp, designed to boost social-emotional learning.

This summer's Social Brain Building sessions will be 2 hours of activities in a play-based group where children will use play, art, and psycho-educational activities to practice self-regulation and executive functioning skills. Group goals are to learn how to label emotions, practice regulation techniques, problem-solve, and communicate or collaborate with a group.

IF YOU KNOW OF A CHILD STRUGGLING WITH:

- Making transitions
- Managing big feelings and energy levels
- Talking out of turn or grabbing
- Negotiating and compromising
- "Plugging in" to group plans and processes
