

Does Your Child Need Social Brain Building Support?

Attention to others

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Listening to others

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Participating in a small group

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Participating in a large group

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Managing own feelings

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Understanding feelings of others

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Enjoying being with peers

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Entering social play with peers

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Maintaining social play with peers

- Not a Challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Participating in a conversation

- Not a challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Problem Solving

- Not a challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Expression of affection

- Not a challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

Ability to tolerate changes, transitions

- Not a challenge
- Moderately Challenging
- Extremely Difficult

If you answered "moderately challenging" or "extremely difficult" to more than 2 of the above items, reach out to our front office as your child may be struggling with social brain building.